Scraping for stories

@PaulBradshaw
Course leader, MA Data Journalism, Birmingham City University
Data journalist, BBC Shared Data Unit

You are planning a story...

1. ...on zero hours contracts with agencies. How can you establish just how many agency jobs are advertised as full time?
2. ...on how long prisons were closed and children unable to see their parents while the rest of the country was out of lockdown and able to meet - how?
3. ...on discrimination in housing that prevents people finding rooms to rent - but how do you establish how big the problem is?

What is scraping?

Automating the gathering of information from online sources

Typically, multiple pages, documents or updates

...across space (e.g. a website) or time (e.g. every day or hour).

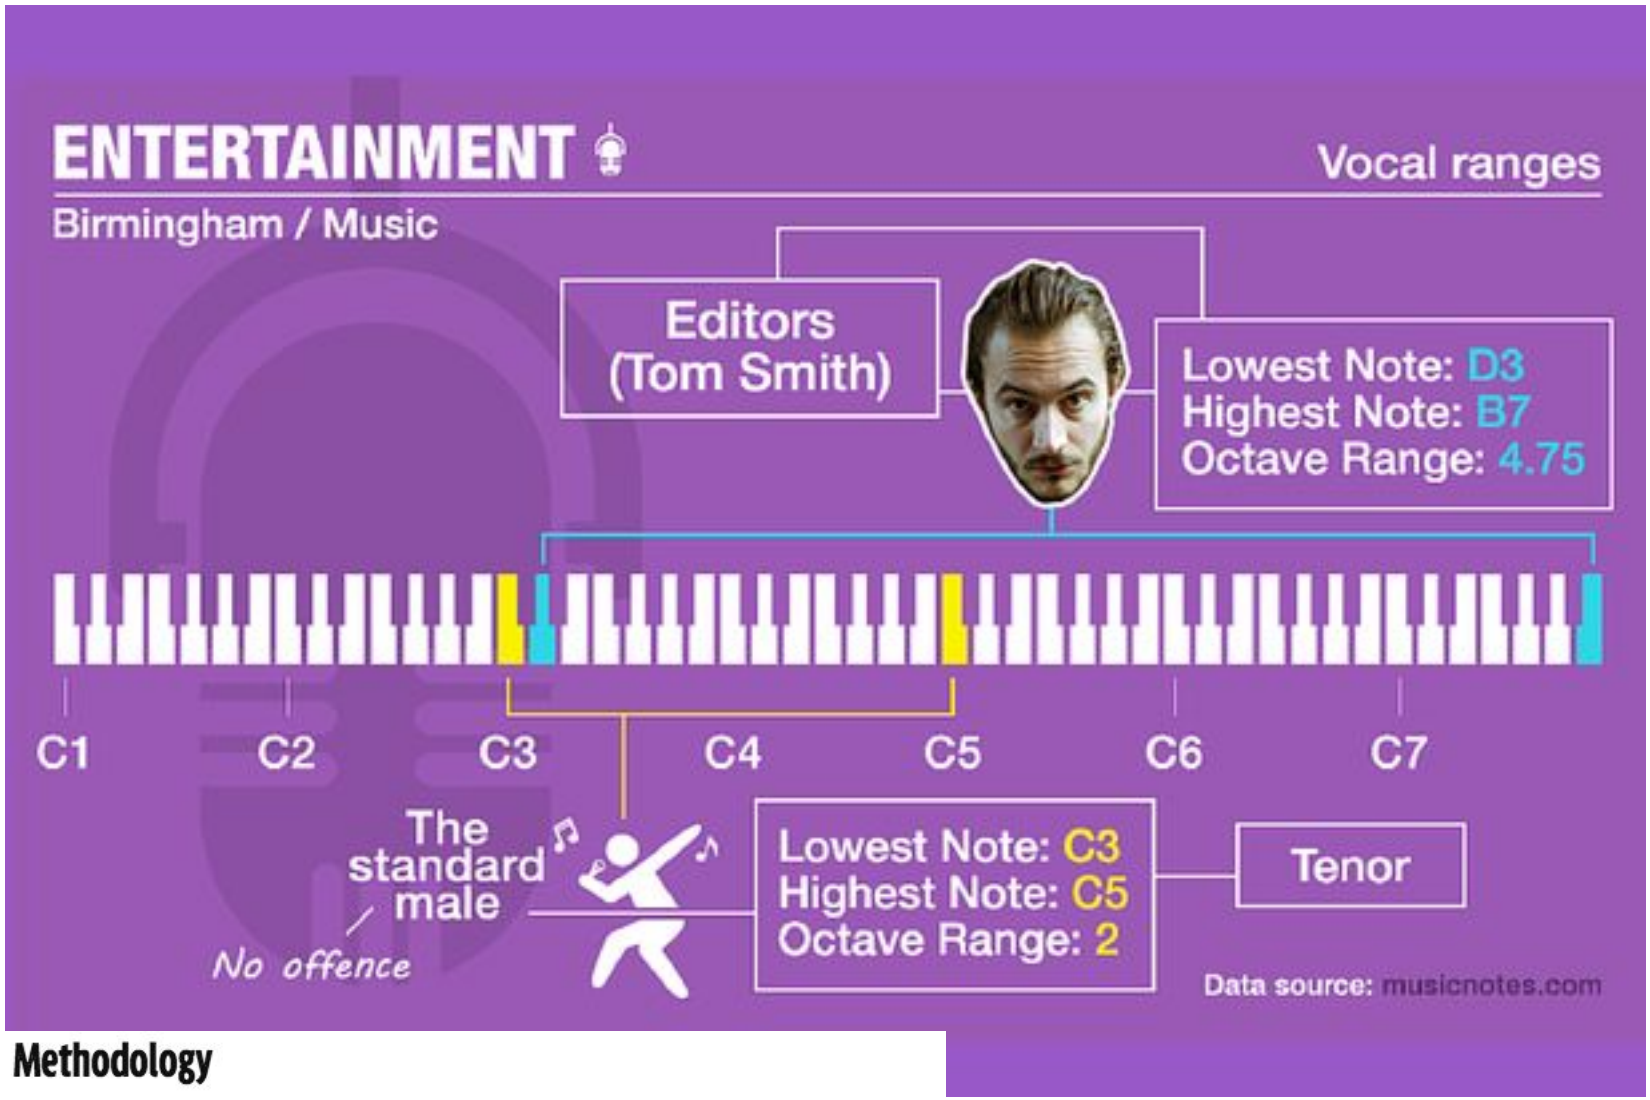
Which singer has the best vocal range in the UK - No, it's not who you think



Methodology

In case you're wondering, this list is based on sheet music data from musicnotes.com, a website with over 260,000 sheet music arrangements. We took vocal melodies from UK bands and artists and plotted the highest and lowest notes each singer has recorded.

Coronavirus: Prisoners' children 'forgotten' during pandemic

By Paul Lynch & Paul Bradshaw
BBC Shared Data Unit

30 March

Coronavirus pandemic

Facilities were not given the all-clear to reopen visiting halls again until 6 July - providing the MoJ approved the safety measures put in place at individual sites.

The BBC has found that, while more than half of prisons resumed visits by the end of July, some 5,000 inmates had to wait until September or later.

Among them, HMP Leicester did not reopen until 26 October, just 11 days before it was locked down again.

Give MPs deadline on hiring relatives, campaigners urge

By Pete Sherlock and Paul Bradshaw
BBC News

31 July 2017 | Comments

One in five MPs continue to employ a member of their family using taxpayers' money despite the practice being banned for new members of Parliament.

Of the 589 returning MPs, 122 have declared the employment of a relative in the latest Register of Members' Financial Interests.

None of the 61 new MPs who secured their seats at the general election on 8 June are allowed to do so.
